Hermitage Golf Club Scores

W. H. Palmer, Jr., and Peter Winston turned in lowest scores in the first round of the finals of the contest for the men's monthly handicap cup at the Hermitage Golf Club yesterday afternoon.

These two will play off the tie this week, using handicaps. Palmer has a handicap of six, the lowest handicap in the club, and is considered the club's strongest player, while Winston has a handicap of eleven, which gives him advantage of five strokes.

Winston is playing the game of his life, having gained control of his drive and now keeps straight down the course. A close game is expected. In the women's monthly handicap the winners were Mrs. Vittar Suitvan and Miss Margaret Colston, who handed in scores of 59 and 60, respectively. The winner of the match which will be played this week will be given permanent possession of a silver vase.

On Tuesday the men will have a handicap tournament, eighteen holes to be played. Players may start at any hour after 9 o'clock, but the first eighteen holes must be completed.

The Economy of "One Man" Direction

IT IS obvious that a motor car manufacturer can build 50,000 cars at much less than he can build 1,000. But the difference in quantity buying and in quantity manufacturing are not the only elements of saving which can be effected.

Each factory has its own system, its own machinery, its own personnel. Some are still making cars by the old routine with the conventional methods and machinery. Some have advanced more or less and a few, a very few, are producing on the up-to-the-minute efficiency basis by special machinery and special methods particularly adapted to the size and type of the car being made.

We say without hesitation, and it is a fact well-known in the trade, that the great Overland plants are unquestionably the most thoroughly, efficiently and economically equipped and managed.

This great business has the advantage of the personal direction of one single man—the man who founded the business, the man who has grown up with it from the beginning, the man who developed it—John N. Willys.

Mr. Willys has clung steadfastly to the watchword "The most car for the least money." And each year he has more than made good this principle.

To produce a car of the Overland size, power, strength and high quality, and to sell that car for such a remarkably low price, has taxed, to the utmost, all the resourcefulness, foresight, ingenuity, untiring energy and wide experience of, not only Mr. Willys, but a veritable army of the industry's most able men.

Mr. Willys knows men, and it is well known that no manufacturing institution, perhaps in the world, can boast of a larger or more efficient and well-trained, well-paid, well-satisfied organization.

In the newest Overland increased value at a decreased price is more prominent and apparent than ever.

You will make a grave mistake if you fail to thoroughly examine our latest model.

MUCH OPEN WORK FEATURE OF GAME

Cambridge, Mass., November 1.—Harvard defeated Cornell this afternoon by a score of 23 to 6, in a game marked by much open work by both sides. Harvard was minus three of its star men, Mahan, in the backfield, being in the hospital, and Hitecock and O'Brien, because of lame ankles. While Houghton kept his regulars in, Cornell could do nothing against Harvard's line, but the Ithacans had the sweet satisfaction of scoring a touchdown, even though it was against the substitute battery.

Previous to this the Crimson's goal line was never in danger, Harvard time and again charging Cornell's line for gains ranging from five to fifteen yards and other runs that netted her ten and fifteen yards.

A strong wind played havoc with the punters.

During the first period the Ithacans resorted to the forward pass, but Harvard broke up this play on four different occasions, capturing the ball and placing it either in a position for a touchdown or a field goal by Brickley, Barrett, the Cornell half back, who, featured for his team, while "Ted" Withington, at tackle, played a slashing game for Harvard, and Pennek was just as reliable as ever at guard. Captain Storrs, who has been shifted to end, played a strong game in his new position.

The Scholastics defeated Forest Hill by the score of 30 to 6 yesterday. Line-plugging was the Scholastics' forte, though several pretty forward passes were completed for good gains. Dennis and Lacy starred for the Scholastics, while Tompkins and Berryman seemed to be the backbone of the Forest Hill team. The line-up and summary.

Tremendous Crowd at Races.
Latonia, Ky., November 1.—With the return of delightful weather a tremendous crowd turned out at Latonia today. The track improved considerably overnight. The feature event was the Autumn Selling Stakes, and though it resulted in a victory for the favorite, High Private, it was the best in the series for two-year-olds at six furlongs.

Richmonders in The Game.
Fredericksburg, Va., November 1.—Fredericksburg College and the Tigers, an independent team from Richmond, played a no-score football game here today. Though much lighter, the College boys gained more ground than the Tigers. The first half ended with the ball within four yards of the Tigers' goal. Sullivan Jukin, for the Collegians; Amos and Dunn, for the visitors, starred. Referee, Cole. Umpire, Rowe. Timekeeper, Whitehouse. Linesman, Brooks.
